Constitution

Article I - Name

The name of this Body shall be TAYLOR COUNTY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

Article II — Purpose

The purpose of this Association shall be to encourage and assist the churches, to strengthen the churches in the ministry of the gospel, to create and maintain fellowship among the churches, to extend the cause of world missions, and to fulfill the mandates of the Great Commission through cooperation with the Kentucky Baptist Convention and the Southern Baptist Convention.

Article III - Authority

The Association recognizes the autonomy of each local church and shall exercise no ecclesiastical authority over individual churches.

Article IV — Membership

The Association shall be composed of the present membership and such other churches as shall be admitted to membership by a vote of four-fifths (4/5) of the Messengers present and voting at any Annual Meeting of the Association. Application for membership shall be by a letter to the Executive Board stating their reasons for desiring to affiliate and setting forth their doctrinal position, and, if available, accompanied by such documents as the church's Constitution and By-Laws. Their record of mission support for the past two (2) years shall also be provided. The Executive Board shall cause these documents to be examined to determine their compatibility with doctrinal and organizational positions of the Association and with present member churches. If the results of this examination are positive, the Application shall be brought to the Annual Meeting for its action.

By a four-fifths (4/5) vote of the messengers present and voting at an Annual Meeting, membership may be withdrawn from a church for engaging in unbiblical practices.

Article V — Structure and Organization

Section 1. Association Year

The Association Fiscal Year shall be from August 1 to July 31

Section 2. Executive Board

There shall be an Executive Board composed of the pastor and one additional person from each member church, the retiring Moderator, Association Officers, and Ministry Program Directors, which Board shall act for the Association on all matters of Association business and concern between Annual or duly-called Meetings of the Association. Association officers shall hold the same offices for the Board. The Board shall meet regularly as determined by their own action with a quorum consisting of nine (9) members.

The Executive Board may employ a Director of Missions or other employees as conditions require, and, if so employed, the Board shall set conditions of employment including remuneration, and shall exercise oversight of all such employees of the Association.

Section 3. Association Officers

Officers of the Association shall be: Moderator, Assistant Moderator, Clerk, Assistant Clerk, Treasurer, and Assistant Treasurer to be elected at Annual Meetings. A Nominating Committee may be used to present nominees for offices. Officers shall assume their duties at the close of the session at which they are elected and continue in them until their successors are elected and qualified.

Section 4. Administrative Group

There shall be an Administrative Group composed of Association Officers and Ministry Program Directors with duties and responsibilities as set forth in the By-Laws.

Section 5. Committees

Committees may be created, utilized, and dismissed as any situation requiring such attention may occur. Unless otherwise directed by the Executive Board all committee members shall be appointed by the Moderator.

Article VI — Meetings and Representation

Section 1. Meetings

The Association shall meet at least annually at times and places determined by its own action with the Body composed of the pastors of the churches and such other Messengers as may be sent by the member churches. As they may become necessary, other meetings may be called by the Executive Board upon at least thirty (30) days notice to the churches..

Section 2. Messengers

Messengers to meetings of the Association may be sent by member churches. Each member church shall be entitled to six (6) Messengers, one of whom shall be the pastor (unless there is no pastor at that time, in which case another person may be named to fill this position), and one (1) additional messenger for each fifty (50) members or fraction thereof, above the first one hundred (100) members. The maximum number of Messengers for any church shall be twelve (12).

Section 3. Visitors

Visitors may be seated in Association Meetings and may speak, but be without vote.

Section 4. Reports

At least thirty (30) days prior to the Annual Meeting date, Member Churches shall furnish for the Association Office such information as called for by the Uniform Associational Letter or by the Executive Board, and all Ministry Program Directors and the DOM shall submit to the Association Office annual Reports on their ministries. All reports shall be published in the Annual Minutes of the Association which shall be distributed to member churches.

Article VII — Amendments

This Constitution may be amended, altered, and/or updated (except Article III) at any meeting of the Association upon the vote of four-fifths (4/5) of the messengers present and voting, provided that any such amendments or changes have been proposed least one (1) year in advance of the meeting.

[Parliamentary Rules: Robert's Rules of Order (latest edition) shall be the guide for business proceedings of the Association.]

(This Constitution was adopted September 11, 2012)

By-Laws

Article I - Officers—Terms, Duties, and Responsibilities

Section 1. Director of Missions

The Association may employ a Director of Missions (DOM), who shall be recommended by the Administrative Group and who will serve with the Executive Board in planning, enabling, and evaluating ministries of the Association. The DOM shall give general direction and supervision to the total program of the Association, supervise the promotion and administration of the budget, direct the work of the Association office, encourage fellowship among pastors and member churches, and promote cooperative endeavors in the fields of evangelism, missions, and education. The DOM shall be called by the Executive Board with a vote of four/fifths (4/5) majority. The Board shall set salary and benefits, and supervise and evaluate the quality of performance. The call to a DOM shall be for an indefinite period of time. (For further details of a Job Description for a DOM, see the document adopted by the Executive Board in January 2011.)

Section 2. Moderator

The Moderator shall work closely with the Director of Missions. He shall chair all meetings of the Association and the Executive Board, unless providentially prevented from doing so, in which case the Assistant Moderator shall preside. As required, copies of the Minutes shall be sent to various offices of the Kentucky Baptist Convention. The Clerk shall preserve a permanent file of Minutes and other papers pertinent to the life of the Association.

Section 5. Assistant Clerk

Section 6. Treasurer

The Treasurer shall receive and account for all monies received from all sources including contributions from member churches, shall make distributions of funds as authorized by the Executive Board or its Administrative Group, including payment of valid bills, salaries, and related compensation, within the structure of the duly approved Association budget. All disbursement checks shall carry two (2) signatures, normally of the Treasurer and DOM, but may substitute that of Assistant Treasurer for either. The Treasurer shall be bonded with the bonding fee paid by the Association.

Section 7. Assistant Treasurer

The Assistant Treasurer shall assist the Treasurer as needed, shall serve in the absence of the Treasurer; and shall perform such other duties as may be assigned by the Moderator or the Executive Board.

The term of office for Association Officers, Executive Board members, and Administrative Group members shall be for one (1) year or until their successors have been selected and qualified. The Moderator may succeed to a second year, but shall be limited to a term of two consecutive years, and shall vacate the office for at least one year before again being eligible election as Moderator.

Section 9. Auditor

An Auditor shall be secured by the Executive Board to audit the Treasurer's books and attest to his annual report. Any auditing expense shall be paid the Association.

Section 10. Vacancies

Vacancies in officer positions occurring between meetings of the Association may be filled by the Executive Board.

Article II – Program Design

Section 1. Administrative Group

Part 1. The Administrative Group shall be composed of the Association Officers and Directors of Ministry Teams, shall serve a term of one (1) year, and be eligible to succeed themselves in office.

Part 2. The Administrative Group, acting for the Executive Board, and in conjunction with the DOM, shall be responsible for guiding the structure for planning, developing, and promoting programs of ministries and activities for the ensuing year in all phases of church work, and shall report to the Executive Board on progress of these programs at each regular meeting of the Board.

Section 2. Ministry Programs Structure

Part 1. Various Ministry Programs may be established by the Association to provide emphasis on significant aspects of ministry relevant to the Association and/or its member churches. Between meetings of the Association, the Executive Board is authorized to add other Programs that may be needed, and to elect their Directors.

Part 2. A Director for each Ministry Program shall be elected at the Annual Meeting upon nomination by the Executive Group. The term of service for the Directors shall be one (1) year, and they shall be eligible to succeed themselves.

Part 3. Ministry teams, always including the WMU and Baptist Men, may be created for the Ministry Programs for planning, promoting, and directing activities that will enhance carrying out the Great Commission through the respective Programs.

Part 4. Members of Ministry Teams shall be elected at the Annual Meeting upon nomination of the Executive Group. After the initial creation of a Ministry Team, the term of service for Team members shall be for three (3) years, with approximately one-third (1/3) of the members rotating off each year. Members shall be eligible to succeed themselves for a second three-year term, but must vacate service on that Team for a period of at least one (1) year before again serving beyond six (6) consecutive years.

III – Committees

Section 1. Program Committee

A Program Committee of five (5) members shall be appointed for planning the program of the Annual Meeting, selecting program participants, and determining the time(s) and place(s) for the Annual Meeting, submitting same on a timely basis to the Executive Board for final approval.

Section 2. Budget and Finance Committee

The Administrative Group, in conjunction with the DOM, shall serve as the Budget and Finance Committee for the Association, shall prepare a proposed budget for the ensuing year to be presented to the Executive Board for approval and subsequent approval by the membership at the Annual Meeting, shall act for the Executive Board for budget control, and, between board meetings, approve necessary disbursements.

Section 3. Other Committees

Other committees may be created, utilized, and dismissed as any situation requiring such attention may occur. Unless otherwise directed by the Executive Board, all committee members shall be appointed by the Moderator.

IV – Amendments

These By-Laws may amended, altered, and/or updated upon a four-fifths (4/5) vote of Messengers present and voting at any meeting of the Association, or upon a majority vote of the Executive Board voting at any meeting of the Board provided that notice of the proposed change(s) has been given to member churches at least sixty (60) days prior to the meeting at which the vote is to be taken.

The Campus Ministries At Campbellsville University, 2011-2012

The Relationship with the Taylor County Baptist Association and area church dynamics

The role of the BCM at CU in the Taylor County Baptist Association is one of availability and support. Every year all of the Christian churches in Taylor County, including those in the TCBA, are invited on campus for the purpose of introducing themselves to the student body. This is done through a university-sponsored event early in the semester. The primary avenue for involvement on the campus is through the BCM-sponsored Commuter Lunch program. While it has taken various forms over the past eighteen years, commuter lunches are typically offered every other week during a semester. TCBA churches, mostly through the work of each WMU, are approached every summer with a plea to provide one or more meals during the academic year for CU's commuter students. During the 2011-2012 year we had seven TCBA churches which provided two meals (one each semester) and an eighth which provided one meal. Another Baptist church, Muldraugh Hill Baptist Church – Central Association – provided one meal and two meals were provided by non-denomination churches.

Another very important relationship exists between the BCM and the local association of Baptist churches. Every year BCM students are encouraged to not only attend but invest their lives in a local church while they are students at CU. Of the twenty-three churches in the local association, fourteen have current or former students active in a paid leadership position. This leadership ranges from pastor to part-time age group worker. There are also students who serve as volunteer age-group workers.

There are a few other connections between the BCM and the local association. The local association annually provides some financial support of BCM. For the current year the BCM has received $200. Every year the BCM conducts a campus-wide picnic during "Welcome Week", the first week of the academic year. The BCM invites all pastors/staff to be a part of the BCM picnic. It is a casual time to mix and mingle with students and get some information into their hands regarding each particular church. It is important to connect with students in this type of venue because none of the local churches has a staff member whose singular ministry is to collegians. Two or three have a Sunday School class just for collegians. Most typically, the responsibility for collegiate ministry is combined with one or more other responsibilities of a given staff member.

Relationship with the local college/university

The Baptist Campus Ministry of Campbellsville University is a part of the Office of Campus Ministries at the school. BCM is the largest organization on campus with an active membership of around 300 to 350. The only other active Christian organization on campus is Fellowship of Christian Athletes. A couple of others are seeking to get established but as of yet are “unrecognized” by the school. In the administrative structure of the university the Office of Campus Ministries sits in the Student Services area. The Dean of Students is the direct supervisor of the Campus Minister. The Student Services area reports to the Vice-President for Student Services, Admissions, and Financial Aid. Currently, the Dean of Students is Jodi Allen. The Vice-President for Student Services, Admissions, and Financial Aid is Dave Walters. As a side note and to my good blessing, Dave is a CU grad who also served alongside me one year as the Campus Ministries Intern.

The budget for Baptist Campus Ministry falls within the overall budget of the Office of Campus Ministries. For the 2011-2012 year the ministry budget allotted was $14,000. For fiscal year 2012-2013 the amount will be $12,000. A necessary 5% cut in our projected budget has required an adjustment from the very start of our year. A financial blessing not counted in “dollars to spend” is the fact that the university funds a Campus Ministry Intern, a Graduate Assistant in Campus Ministry, and is allocating three work-study students to this office for the 2012-2013 school year. Unfortunately, the full-time secretary in Campus Ministries resigned at the end of May, 2012. The university has decided, at this time, not to replace that position. Therefore, that workload will have to be assimilated by the rest of us. We’ll figure out how that is going to work along the way. The university also keeps a fleet of vans for athletic, academic, administrative, and organizational use. When the BCM sends out its weekend ministry teams it will do so in CU vans. While not free, the university does make these vans available at an incredibly economic rate. This is just one way the university supports and assists BCM in its ministry.

Another area to consider where the university supports BCM is through the availability of its facilities. The Office of Campus Ministries suite is located in the Ransdell Chapel. BCM has first choice on the use of the building including the sanctuary. This is where BCM conducts its weekly worship service, “Oasis”. In addition to using the office space and the sanctuary, the chapel classroom is utilized for meetings by a variety of BCM groups. The lobby of the Ransdell Chapel has an attached kitchen which enables BCM to host its bi-weekly Commuter Lunches in the same building. The use of the Ransdell Chapel and other space on campus all comes free of charge. The university utilizes a “first come-first served” policy on its classroom and other space outside of actual class time. Since the chapel houses the Office of Campus Ministries this office also becomes the home of the master calendar for events/activities within the chapel.

Relationship with Kentucky Baptist Churches

Every year the BCM sends a mass mailing to Kentucky Baptist Churches west of I-75. This mailing promotes weekend ministry teams which the BCM makes available during the school year. There are currently two teams which are prepared: A Weekend Ministry Team and a Disciple Now Team. The Weekend Ministry Team is a hybrid of what used to be our Creative Ministries Team and our Revival Team. Response from churches requesting student teams doing creative ministry had so diminished that we decided to eliminate that aspect of our efforts. The DiscipleNow Team works with churches to provide the small group study component of these weekends. During the past academic year we were able to send our teams into twenty Kentucky Baptist Churches/entities.

One other way the BCM at CU interacts with Kentucky Baptist churches are through our weekly worship service. Historically, we have invited a variety of Kentucky Baptist pastors and staff to speak at Oasis. This has brought various church leaders into contact with our students and allowed our students to hear sermons from a wide spectrum of ministers.

Evangelism

During the course of the year we identify certain dates (some in place of a weekly Oasis and some not) for the purpose of having an “E-Nite”, or Evangelism Nite. We utilize these nights to conduct an event for the entire campus and hold it someplace other than the Ransdell Chapel. Much like a church seeking to draw the unsaved to an attractive activity in a non-church setting we have fun/attractive activities for the purpose of drawing a non-BCM crowd so that we may share the Gospel. During this past year we played a campus-wide game of Capture the Flag, had a bonfire with some games and cooked s’mores, we utilized The Maze, and held a game of Underground Church – in cooperation with our student housing folks. The good news is that we will typically have a good crowd of students who attend these E-Nites. We encourage spiritual conversations to take place throughout the duration of the activity and we always plan a time for everything to pause while a student stands to share the plan of salvation. When this student ends his/her presentation and invitation the activities resume.

We will also have a few servant-evangelism events during the course of the year. We have gone through our dorms, sometimes only getting to one or two at-a-time, volunteering to take out the trash in each room. Other times we have baked homemade cookies and exchanged them for the trash in the rooms. When the question comes about why we are doing this the door is open to witness.

One other thing we do in the way of evangelism is to be sure every student participating in one of our mission trips goes through some evangelism training. I’ll speak to missions more later, but every team which is sent is asked to begin meeting four to six weeks before (international teams begin meeting much earlier) their trip departure for the purpose of ministry preparation. A very important component of this preparation is witness training. In this way we know dozens-nearly 200 this past year-will have received assistance in learning how to present the plan of salvation and giving their testimony.

Discipleship

Every year the individual members of the BCM Council are expected to lead a discipleship group. They may opt to use the Bible as a guide, to work through a book, or to utilize their time to focus on accountability to each other. This past year there were 15 students on council. Three did not follow-through on establishing a small group. Of the remaining twelve group size varied from four to seven.

BCM/Campus Ministries also worked closely with an effort to establish at least one small group per team within each of our varsity sports. This was the third year of this effort. It began in large part to the absence of significant leadership within the FCA. Initially the effort of four CU athletes, who were active in BCM, it has maintained a presence within approximately 15 teams and a total participation of about 120. The toughest challenge for this to continue is to find leaders to replace those who have graduated. I am including this story as an illustration of how BCM works as an integral part of the university. We have aided in the supply of books for the groups to study, provided leadership to the student coordinators, and have some BCM’ers involved in the studies. I am also working with a professor in our School of Theology who is seeking to initiate a graduate assistant spot for a student whose main (one) task will be to give leadership and guidance to keep this ministry going.

I also encourage other students to initiate and lead a small group as they are so led. Every year I have the opportunity to speak to the university's Resident Assistants. From this group of fifty I usually have three or four who indicate they would like some help with leading a small group. In addition to these other students will approach expressing a desire to lead a group. Again, we aide by facilitating some materials and providing some potential contacts. This often comes as a result of information shared by students on BCM Information Cards. Every year we inundate our first two weeks of activities with information about the things BCM is/will be doing on campus. At each of these events we ask students to complete a card with their contact information but also ask them to indicated areas of interest including a desire to be involved in a small group.

Missions

Mission involvement at CU made quantum leap in 1998. At that time we extended our spring break effort from one to six teams. In the following few years we saw anywhere from five to ten teams going out over spring break to do mission work. We initiated mission trips at Christmas break and even over our brief fall break. Last year CU altered its academic calendar for coordinating purposes. Out of necessity we altered our strategy as well. In an effort to provide a more in-depth international mission experience we pulled back from offering any international trips during the year itself. Our alternative provision was to plan four or five international trips to take place simultaneously just after our spring semester ended. We were anticipating that we would be able to connect with CU alumni who are currently serving overseas as career missionaries or journeymen. Unfortunately, we were not able to make most of those trips come to pass. We were able to connect with CU alumni serving as career missionaries in Niger. So, a team of eleven spent May 8-22 working among the Songhai. Below you will find a student summary of this trip. To read more and see more photos of this experience go to www.seekingthesonghai.blogspot.com

Volunteer Testimony: Campbellsville University (May 2012)

Coming to work with the Songhai people has truly been a life-changing experience. I have wanted to come to Africa & am so blessed to have had this opportunity. This trip was so far outside of my comfort zone on so many levels, but I loved every single minute of it.

It is one thing to know the Gospel & believe it. Actually putting the Gospel into action is a completely different thing. I have really felt the Lord moving & working in everything that has happened during our 2 weeks in Niger. I have grown up in church & have heard the Great Commission more times than I count. This trip completely encompassed everything Christ commands of us in the Great Commission. In our work with the Songhai people, our team experienced leading one man to Christ, baptizing two believers & discipling new believers.

Spending time with the Songhai people in the village of Boubon has truly opened my eyes to a completely different culture. While on this trip I really feel like God allowed me to see more & more of His heart than I have seen before. I was able to live life with these people that God created & dearly loves. The Lord opened my eyes to see the things that He cares about and the things that He calls us to care about. There are still so many people who need Jesus and don't even know who He is. I've never met anyone before this trip who didn't know anything about Jesus. God desires for no one to perish, but wants everyone to come to Him for eternal life.

I'm so grateful for this experience to spend time with the Songhai and share about Christ with them. They are such a gracious & hospitable people. The Lord has placed them on my heart and I will be continuing to pray for them after leaving Niger.

Kaela Vessels, student at Campbellsville University

As a side note, each and every one of the students who participated on this trip has expressed a desire to return to Niger and do more work among the Songhai. We are planning a trip next May.

The alteration in our academic year shrank our Christmas break such that while in 2010-2011 we had seven teams on mission in 2011-2012 we had two. For the eleventh or twelfth year in-a-row a group of CU students traveled to Texas to work with Mission Arlington. The Christmas Store ministry there is a great time of meeting needs both physical and spiritual. The only other team over Christmas was a group of CU School of Nursing students who traveled to Haiti for the second year-in-a-row. BCM/Campus Ministries has worked closely with this group both years to provide the contacts and logistical details for their trip. They have partnered with Ken Bolin, pastor of First Baptist Church in Manchester, Kentucky. Rev. Bolin is a CU alumnus who has had a ministry presence in Haiti for ten years. The students on this team have operated free medical clinics for the people there. It has been such a life changing experience that several have expressed the desire to return on a regular basis.

Spring break mission trips have been to a variety of locations over the past several years. One of those locations is usually Panama City Beach, Florida where students will take part in Beach Reach, an outreach of Lifeway. Another exciting development over the past few years has been the participation of CU football players on a sports ministry team. The team has been led by Jim Hardy, one of CU's assistant coaches. He has been involved with Sports Reach since its inception. Sports Reach is a ministry begun by Robby Speer, CU alumnus. During our spring break Coach Hardy has taken teams to Florida to play softball in a number of prisons while sharing the Gospel with the inmates. I was able to go along with this team this year and received a tremendous blessing. Getting to know these students better was great for me. Seeing 76 inmates come to faith in Jesus Christ through their witnessing and relationship building was even greater still. We will continue to support and encourage our coaches to involve their teams in mission opportunities.

Leadership Development

Every year I include BCM Council members as involved in leadership development. I would also put every student mission trip coordinator in that category. For the record, we invite CU faculty and staff to be a part of any/every mission trip. However, every team will have a student coordinator and an assistant coordinator. So, totaling council membership and mission team leaders 25 students received leadership training as a part of one of these activities. We also offered a leadership training group during the spring semester and had seven student participants.

BCM Council members are taught how to organize, plan, conduct and evaluate events/activities. They are also taught how to cooperate within a larger framework. Every council member is required to enlist other students to be a part of their respective LEAD Team. “LEAD” – Leading, Enabling, Assisting, Developing. Council members are given freedom regarding the size of their LEAD Team, however, the team is not to be less than four other students or more than eight. Each council member is to reserve at least one spot for an in-coming freshman as well. Council members are taught that LEAD Teams are not “go-fers” or there to take orders. The LEAD Team is there as a source of ideas, energy, manpower, thought and cooperation. They are challenged to take a critical look at the events/activities/ministries they have conducted and do an evaluation to serve as the vehicle for improvement on the way toward excellence in ministry. As each individual council member pours into his/her LEAD Team the team is enabled, feels a part of what is going on in BCM, knows they have a “stake” in the ministry, has the opportunity to make a difference and is prepared to step into a leadership position not only through BCM but eventually in a local church after a college career has ended.

Mission trip leaders are asked to begin meeting with their respective teams four to six weeks before the trip. During this time they are challenged to do team building, evangelism training and ministry preparation. In addition, each mission team is responsible for its own fundraising. BCM and the Office of Campus Ministries supports and helps coordinate these efforts so that teams will not clash with each other logistically. Speaking of logistics, mission team leaders are also responsible for ensuring the logistics of a mission trip are addressed; transportation, meals, lodging, contacts, coordination, any needed supplies, etc. One of the great challenges students mention to me is the securing of funds. Over the years we have done the usual things. A few years ago we added the sending of support letters to our suggestions for students. Four years ago the local Amazon Distribution Center solicited community groups and local school groups to participate in its “Christmas Gift Wrapping” fundraiser. They invite groups to come in for a four-hour shift to wrap packages for shipping. People keep track of the number of gifts each person wraps and they earn money per item wrapped. Our BCM has participated every year. The first year or two we raised $2,000 to $4,000. In the fall of 2010, the first year our School of Nursing went on mission to Haiti, our participation level jumped dramatically. We raised $18,000. This past year we strongly urged all Christmas, spring break, and May trip participants to get involved. As a group we raised just over $25,000! Pretty good stuff. To put it in perspective, there were eleven on the May trip to Niger. Our cost was $3,000 each so the total team cost was $33,000. The total raised by all of our mission teams to participate in all of our trips during the 2011-2012 school year was $90,980. I don’t believe there is any way to raise that much money by working at Amazon, but having those kinds of figures around helps get the point across to students how important it is to be diligent in their efforts. So you can see that addressing those kinds of details while still a student provides an incredible experience in leadership development for the young man or young woman who will be transferring that capability into local church membership.

Worship/Prayer

One of the issues BCM has had over the past few years has been one of garnering involvement across ethnic lines. In previous years we have had occasional participation from an African-American in one of our worship services. So working with, developing, encouraging, and getting a positive response from one or more African-Americans in a leadership role has been an emphasis for a while. We were greatly blessed when Jasmine Barnett applied for, interviewed and then was selected to serve on the BCM Council for 2011-2012 as the Worship Coordinator. Jasmine is local, growing up and graduating from Green County High School. She also has been the drummer for a local Christian band called “Steadfast”. As she was coming onboard to coordinate our services Jasmine knew that BCM needed to do some new things to reach out to the black student population. Oddly enough, even though she is African-American this was not an easy for her. Still, Jasmine worked to get others to play and/or sing in the praise team. She was also one of the key initiators of a new black gospel choir on campus. They sang several times in worship. By the end of the year we had seen a much greater level of participation from the African-American students, but we have a long way to go.

One of the great challenges/blessings for us this past year was the attendance at Oasis during the fall semester. We began the semester with our highest average attendance for the first two months of the year. However, we were challenged because of the first eight weeks we could have Oasis we were only able to have five. In fact, in one stretch we were able to have Oasis one out of four consecutive weeks. One week we hosted The Maze (Sep 29), the next week we were not able to meet in the chapel (Oct6) (another school activity was taking place) and we also had our fall break (Oct 20). This took its toll on our students and our attendance. We dropped by about 35 and could not recover. Still, the spirit in our services was sweet and we continued to include a number of our ethnic students in worship leading.

Another blessing through Oasis is the opportunity for students to hear from a number of Baptist ministers during the course of the year. During the fall semester speakers included:

T. Lusk, Crossings Ministry

Rob Turner, Apex Church in Dayton, Ohio

James Dean, CU Student Housing Coordinator and former BCM President

Tommy Johnson, BCM Director at WKU

Steve Coleman, Youth Minister at FBC, Richmond

Kenny Rager, Pastor at Living Faith Baptist in Hartford

Rick Howerton, Small Groups Expert with Navigators

The spring semester we hosted these speakers:

Joe Ball, Youth Evangelism Coordinator, KBC

Nathan Cornett, Youth Minister at Immanuel Baptist in Lexington

Brent Gambrell, Evangelist (Came for our Campus Revival January 30-February 2)

Shane & Jennifer Garrison, Shane is a professor in our School of Theology, CU alumnus and former BCM Council member.

Shajuana Ditto, CU & BCM alum, teacher & volleyball coach in Meade County

Jared Patrick, youth minister in western Kentucky

Kevin Spratt, Lifeway special events coordinator and CU/BCM alumnus

Daniel Berry, BCM Director at UK

Trent Creason & Charity Powell, CU Campus Ministry Interns

Todd Parish, Former BCM President and currently owner of his own construction company, Pro Services.

Our desire is that this kind of variety will give students the opportunity to hear from people serving across a wide spectrum of vocations, all supportive of BCM.

Our prayer ministry was wide-ranging. We had a prayer request page online and moved it to Facebook this year. One of our on-going efforts was to create a monthly prayer guide which students could keep in their Bible as a bookmark. We did this. We held a special season of prayer before we hosted The Maze on September 29 and again before our campus revival in January. We regularly had special times of prayer during Oasis. Each mission trip participant had a prayer warrior supporting them while they were on mission.

Prayer is the thing that weaves its way in and through everything we do. We seek God's leading as we begin our earliest planning. We ask his blessing on our campus and that Christ will be made known here by what we do and say. We understand that the prayer lives of our BCM students and leaders must be far deeper than those times when we are together – that we must individually spend time alone with the Father. Every year we will offer a study of a book on prayer like “Praying Effectively for the Lost” or “Prayer: Finding the Heart's True Home”. Prayer provides our strength, it is our avenue to our Father. We conducted one Oasis this year with the sole purpose of involving students in a variety of prayer experiences.

Remove every word from the English language but one; that word would represent the essence of what is most important in life. How about “relationships” for that word? At the end of the day, it is always about relationships. So said Jesus! When asked by some conspiring religious officials to identify the most important command in all the Law and the Prophets, Jesus essentially responded, “Love God. Love people.” The ministry of the Lighthouse Counseling Center is about reflecting Christ's light and love into the hearts and minds of men and women who desperately need the Love of their Savior and who need to learn to be great lovers of God and others.

Lighthouse Update—August 2011 through July 2012

Lighthouse Counseling Center at Campbellsville Baptist Church finished its sixth year of ministry in July 2012 with a continued mission to help persons who acknowledge their need for both a light and a guide. This carefully placed “structure of guidance” exists to help persons who are interested in seeing a professional counselor who serves under the tutelage of the Wonderful Counselor who is both the Light and the Guide.

This past year (August 2010-July 2011), 441 sessions of counseling were held with individuals, couples, and families from all over Central Kentucky. This represents 10 sessions more than last year. Approximately 35% of these 441 sessions were held with individuals, 37% with couples, 15% with families, with the remaining 13% being supervision of other Christian marriage and family therapists pursuing licensure. In addition to serving persons from a broad variety of churches, data from the last year reveals that 7 different ministers and their families were served in a total of 38 counseling sessions. Of the 431 sessions held, approximately 22% were with members or attenders of Campbellsville Baptist Church and 78% were in service to members of other churches and the community at large. This last statistic is an anomaly based on the fact that CBC has been without a pastor since May 2011 and Dr. Alexander made a lot of referrals from the church. In the absence of a pastor, there has been more space for referrals from other churches and the community at large.

Lighthouse Counseling continues to receive referrals from a variety of individuals, churches, and organizations in our community. Presenting concerns are quite diverse, including: depression, anxiety, life management, substance abuse, marriage, family, parenting and pre-marital counseling. In addition, persons have sought help for bulimia, sexual abuse, grief and loss, infidelity, restoration to ministry, post-traumatic stress, spiritual warfare, job loss and adjustment, career, school problems, spiritual concerns, and various relationship issues.

Campbellsville Baptist Church, in partnership with other churches in the Campbellsville and Central Kentucky area, began this counseling ministry a little over six years ago. Beginning the end of July 2006, Dr. Scott Wigginton assumed the position of Minister of Counseling and Director of the newly formed Lighthouse Counseling Center. He currently provides up to ten hours per week of counseling to individuals, couples, and families. To date, Lighthouse has provided close to 2500 hours of face-to-face counseling.

Counseling services are open to all persons in the community regardless of church affiliation. Referrals can be made by calling Dr. Wigginton at (270) 465-8115 (Ext. 216). Fees are $75 ($60 for individuals referred by a local church). The “Lighthouse Fund” is a way for area churches, as well as other organizations and interested individuals, to tangibly care for persons in our community who need counseling but who could not otherwise afford it. Churches and other interested parties are encouraged to make a yearly donation to the fund to defray the costs of both their members and those from the community who need services. Checks may be sent to “Campbellsville Baptist Church Lighthouse Fund” and marked to the attention of Dr. Scott Wigginton.

The Lighthouse Counseling Ministry is possible because of generous support from Campbellsville Baptist Church, Taylor County Baptist Association, and other individuals, churches, and organizations. The Kentucky Baptist Convention partners with us at times in helping with pastor’s and minister’s fees for counseling. Lighthouse has also begun an endowment fund through the Kentucky Baptist Foundation that we hope will ultimately grow to provide help for any person, regardless of income, to have access to affordable and competent Christian counseling in the Central Kentucky area. If you or someone you know would like to contribute to this fund, please have them contact Dr. Wigginton.

Dr. Scott Wigginton serves in a full-time capacity as Associate Professor of Pastoral Ministries & Counseling at Campbellsville University. A licensed marriage and family therapist, he served from 1993 through 2004 as Executive Director of LifeCare Counseling Center and Counseling Minister at Walnut Street Baptist Church in Louisville, Kentucky. Dr. Wigginton has been married to Elizabeth for 26 years and they are the proud parents of Auburn, Hope, and Caleb. In addition to his B.A. from Western Kentucky University, he has earned M.Div., Th.M., and Ph.D. degrees from the The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and is a clinical member and Approved Supervisor of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy, a clinical member of the American Group Psychotherapy Association, and a Fellow with the American Association of Pastoral Counselors. Besides counseling and teaching, Dr. Wigginton has written a family column for the Western Recorder, the weekly newspaper for the Kentucky Baptist Convention, since 2001. Before coming to Campbellsville University, he taught adjunctively at The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary for almost 10 years and served full-time as Associate Professor and Chair of the Counseling Area at Boyce College for two years.

Sunday School

We have been getting acquainted with our churches' Sunday School Directors and Teachers. On May 1, 2012 we met with the Sunday School Directors at Lowell Avenue Baptist Church. I have visited ten churches. We participated in the 3rd and 4th of July celebration at the TCBA booth. We passed out 500 "I believe in Sunday School" buttons, pens, brochures and a variety of tracts on salvation. The churches provided most of the material. Looking to the 2012 -2013 Sunday School Year, we have set a few goals:

1. Increase the total Sunday School enrollment 5%
2. Increase the Sunday School average attendance 10%
3. Increase the Sunday School teaching staff 2%

We are seeking one or two persons from each church to participate in a prayer team. They will meet each quarter to pray for our Sunday School and churches, and also for a great revival in our community. We are planning a picnic for our Sunday School leaders and their families. I am excited about the Transformational Church Seminar on September 27 & 28, 2012 on the Campus of Campbellsville University, sponsored by KBC, Lifeway, and Campbellsville University. This is a conference for pastors and church leaders.

Our motto for Taylor County Baptist Association Sunday School is: "We Believe In Sunday School."

God Bless our TCBA Churches

Thanksgiving Letter from Nickolai Syrovatko

To: Messengers of Annual Meeting and the churches of Taylor County Baptist Association

"And he who gives seed for putting into the field and bread for food, will take care of the growth of your seed, at the same time increasing the fruits of your righteousness; Your wealth being increased in everything, with a simple mind, causing praise to God through us". (2 Cor. 9:10-11)

Dear brothers and sisters in the Lord Jesus Christ,

I am glad to greet you and to give brotherly greetings from local churches of our regional Brotherhood and in particular from my assistants who are God's laborers on the field of church education. First of all we want to thank everyone for partnership contacts and support of your association on regular base which give us possibilities for the fulfillment of God's commands at sharing of the Gospel and a progress of discipleship.

We pray God will be leading you during these days of work of the meeting through discussions of current questions and an acceptance of decisions which touch on plans and an increase of ministries of Taylor Association at coming year. My head duty continues to be a care and a help to churches of Saint Petersburg and Leningrad area at questions of training and an equipment of teachers and leaders. Next part of my responsibility is providing of necessary materials for classes of Sunday School and Bible study groups. Our churches feel big need at methodical material which would be adopted to Russian reality.

This circumstance is nice stimulus for that I myself study different books and journals, and then prepare special textbooks, brochures and programs for our churches as well. I endeavor to preach and to lead Bible study groups at those churches which need at servants or examples of an organization of ministries.

When God gives additional resources or open a door for increase of discipleship then I visit churches of other areas which are located near from Saint Petersburg where I serve through the same ways. During all years of our partnership ministry and till today I have also a care about church leaders who have completed in the past Pastors School and now are pastors or teachers. I must mark many churches from other regions of Russia need and wait brotherly help from Saint Petersburg as a center of spiritual life of Russia. Of course we could be assistants for them but a deficit of resources is main limitation at a development of contacts between churches or a realization of joint projects.

Because we don't have resources for an organization of seminars on regular base so I am for many teachers and leaders as a coach or a tutor at work with their groups during learning year. When pastors from other regions visit Saint Petersburg then we use this possibility and I equip them to using of pulpits and classes.

As you can understand our successes are a result of God's blessings through partnership ministry between Russian churches and the churches of your association. We thank God for this privilege for work at His vineyards and we thank you for brotherly support which we perceive as the example of showing of Christ's love to neighbors.

I ask members of today's meeting to consider a possibility about a continuation of partnership contacts and supporting of my ministry during next fiscal year, please.

With best wishes and prayer for everybody, his family and ministry, brother in Christ,

Nickolai Syrovatko,
Coordinator of Church Education for St. Petersburg and Leningrad Province
